

The Southern Wellbeing Partnership

Do you know how your local Wellbeing Partnership could help you?

The Wellbeing Partnerships:

- Deliver seamless, multi-agency, person-centred integrated health and social care services closer to home for the people who need these – and at the right time
- Provide one point of contact for access to all health and social care services, alongside services provided by third sector partners
- Provide community-based health and social care professionals who co-ordinate support for people to help them stay well at home, through a single point of referral and assessment.
